

“The Rebotica”

The rebotica was a place where the pharmacist elaborated pharmaceutical drugs. It was filled with tools of their profession and the characteristic odor emanating because despite incursions by the industry, the pharmaceutical nineteenth century still carried out a great work of composition.

Besides, he used to sell patented medicines and herbs and folk remedies of his own composition. In this section you can see the equipment in the “rebotica”.